

Sign Up for Goat School

Learn goat-care basics with hands-on activities at Goat School

03/05/2008

Goat owners! Sign up today for one of Maine's premiere events for goat owners coming in May.

The Maine Goat School™ offers critical goat-care information on: hoof trimming

worming

kidding

giving shots

What Else to Expect

Hosted and facilitated by Ken and Janice Spaulding, who have been raising goats for about 20 years, the two-day event also includes: Presentations by goat experts and information on marketing, nutrition, stocking rates, producing meat and about raising goats, which is becoming an increasingly popular and viable business.

Buffet lunches including dishes made with some type of goat product, meat, milk, cheese, etc.

A copy of book Goat School™ (dubbed "Goats 101" by students). The book is a comprehensive guide on goats written by the Spauldings.

Want more learning opportunities?

Check out these links: Specialized schools for Hobby Farmers How to Register

Call: (207) 938-3714

Email: kenjan@tds.net

Dates:

May 10-11, Spring Goat School™

October 11-12, Fall Goat School™

Location:

Stony Knolls Farm in Saint Albans, Maine

Registration fee includes the Goat School™ book and lunch.

At top, a goat checks out some of the students attending class. At right, Ken and Janice Spaulding offer a demonstration. View more photos from past goat school events.