

Controlling Livestock Predators

Join the message board conversation on livestock predators--and tell us your approach on controlling predators on your farm. Do you aim to prevent or wage all-out war? Or both?

Crafty coyotes: a fact of life to deal with or cruel villains to fight with a vengeance? Read a related article>>

Is heat the enemy?
How are you coping?

Do you wage war on livestock predators or focus on prevention or both?

Are potential predators--coyotes, wolves, cougars, eagles, hawks, raccoons--the evil enemy you must battle?

Are they wild creatures that have a right to eat and live as much as any other -- just not on your animals?

How do YOU prevent predator losses on your farm?

Contributing editor Cherie Langlois offers several of her tips: Now share your story....

Log on and tell us your tale!